Venice Acts to Raze More Houses

Intensify Program to Eliminate Substandard
Residences in City

Venice city officials intensified their program of razing deteriorated dwellings in various parts of the city Friday night with adoption by the city council of a resolution listing five residential properties which are "deemed dangerous" and must be repaired or demolished.

The resolution authorized the building department to check assessment records to determine ownership of the properties so that they may be notified that condemnation proceedings will be taken if the owners fail to act.

The council action is another step in a continuing program to eliminate substandard housing started last year. Nine old houses have been razed by the Venice street department, and six others are now in the process of being torn down, but in these cases city officials were able to locate the owners and obtain permission to demolish the structures.

To Aid Development
Mayor John E. Lee said the program is connected indirectly with the city's plan to initiate a Neighborhood Development project under a Federal Housing program that permits cities to replace old houses with new ones built by private or municipal capital. The program now is in the planning stage, Mayor Lee pointed out that action by the city now in clearing away many of the old houses as possible would make a number of sites available for the Neighborhood Development program as soon as it can be initiated.

City officials pointed out that under the resolution, on Friday night, owners of the five specified pieces of property will be notified to either repair or demolish the structures. If they fail to act, the city then will seek a court order authorizing the city to raze the houses.

The properties listed in the resolution include a one-story frame house at 229 Kerr street, 514 Main street, 1107 Bissell street, 1321 Oriole street, and a two-story frame structure at 1101 Market street.

Authorize Loan
The Venice council closed out its old fiscal year Friday night with a series of financial reports and adoption of a resolution authorizing Comptroller Carl Byrnes to borrow from the McKinley Bridge revenue fund and use it for general.

GC Man Killed When He Drops Pistol in Car

Richard Lee Fleming, 24, of 2215 State street, was killed accidentally by his own .22 caliber pistol Friday night in a mishap which the gun was dropped in an auto during a frog hunting trip a mile east of Collinsville. Fleming, a carman for the East St. Louis yards of the Alton & Southern Railroad, was wounded fatally in the forehead and was pronounced dead at the scene about 10 p.m. by Deputy Coroner Herbert A. Kasey of Collinsville. An inquest is pending.

County authorities said Fleming had gone frog hunting along a creek off Leboan road, a narrow road side Collinsville with a brother-in-law, Cecil Buffo of Collinsville, and two other companions.

Buffo and Fleming were at the creek when Fleming, who was driving, dropped the pistol. The mishap occurred as Fleming was climbing into the back seat to the front seat of the car and dropped the pistol, causing it to discharge.

Rt. 151 Paving Work to Resume

Great River Road to be Completed This Year

Paving of the 3.79-mile stretch of FA Route 151 (The Great River Road) between Pontoon Road and Niedringhaus avenue in Granite City will get under way soon, probably next week, Robert Kronst, District Eight engineer of the Illinois Division of Highways, told the Press-Record today.

The project, which is unaffected by the federal freeze on highway fund allocations because it was begun before the freeze was initiated, has been shut down during the winter months. Much of the sub-base for the concrete surface was laid before work was suspended due to cold weather.

Kronst said some minor grading work has been done during the past few weeks when weather permitted, but that a major resumption of the work is expected within the next week. Much of the sub-base for the concrete surface was laid before work was suspended due to cold weather.

The $2,600,000 contract for the project is held by Springfield Construction Co. of Springfield, which is required by contract terms to complete the work in 225 "work days."

Completion This Year
At the time the contract was awarded by the state highway department last May, the contractor estimated paving work on the project would be completed by about mid-July this year, with all final phases of the work such as painting of shoulders and installation of guard rails, completed by October.

Granite City officials, meanwhile, are considering work that must be done on the three thoroughfares that will connect the Great River Road—Niedringhaus avenue, Rock road and West 20th street.

Negotiations with state and federal officials for aid in construction of an overpass over the railroad tracks have been under way for the past two years. Such an overpass probably would be constructed on the west side of the avenue since that street is expected to carry the bulk of the traffic to and from Route 151.

1804 Fourth street for a frame garage costing $1000, and to John Kalasza, 1649 Seventh street, for porch and roof repairs costing $150.

Unsuccessful in obtaining any commitment of assistance for the project, but the overpass project has been dropped from the city because of traffic congestion resulting from long delays by freight trains.

Several new items in this year's budget pushed the total figure over the $27,500 mark, with the only decrease noted in the election expense item which dropped to $400 from $600.

New items include $2500 for drainage control to revamp drainage ditches not provided for through motor vehicle tax funds, $2500 for roadway repairs in subdivisions, including Lakeview Estates, also not eligible under MFT funding; $3500, new police vehicle; $1500, police radar equipment; and $1500, up $1500, for rabies control.

Stalcoff said the rabies control expense was increased substantially to acquire property and establish an animal shelter in the village and to provide food for dogs picked up and confined.

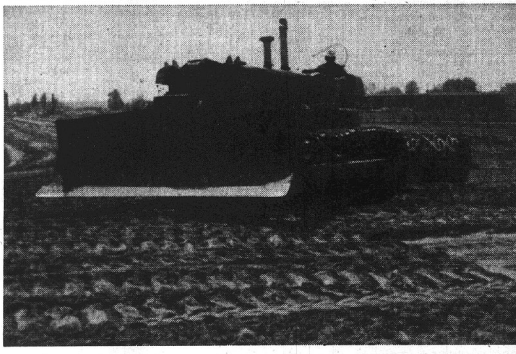

He added that a petition signed by more than 100 village residents urging the trustees to take firm steps against persons whose dogs run-at-large prompted immediate planning for an animal pound.

"We hope to get going on this project within the next two weeks," the officer said.

Animals to be Confined
The village trustees also passed on first reading an ordinance restricting all animals to be confined in a yard or pen unless leashed or muzzled.

A fine of $10 for the first offense and $25 for subsequent offenses were set by the board.

In other action, the trustees were advised that letters had been sent by Village City, William School to Illinois Central.

GRADING WORK ON FA Route 151 (The Great River Road) has been resumed, with paving scheduled to get under way next week. This view is at West 20th street, looking south toward Niedringhaus avenue. The Granite City Army Depot is in the background. The project is scheduled for completion next fall.

Karandjef, president of the United Fund, during a meeting of the United Fund executive committee in the YMCA at noon today.

Konzen succeeds Thomas R. Remington, formerly president of General Steel Industries, Inc., castings division, who headed the 1969 campaign.

Five Juveniles Arrested In Attempted Rape

Five juveniles, 13 to 15 years old, were arrested by Venice police shortly after 10 p.m. Friday after two Venice police officers interrupted their attempt to criminally assault a girl whom they had dragged into a wheat field along Fourth street near Fillmore.

Two of the boys were captured at the scene and the other three were apprehended at their homes later, police reported.

Authorities said that a woman motorist stopped at Venice police headquarters about 10 p.m. and told officers she had seen a group of Negro youths dragging a white girl into the field and that the girl was screaming for help.

Patrolmen Charles Mize and John Crook drove to the area where Crook alighted at Circle drive to approach the field on foot. Mize drove the police cruiser, without lights, along Fillmore street where he reported later, he saw the heads of several persons in the field.

Mize said he drove the squad car through the field until he approached the group and turned on the car lights. He said several of the boys were holding the girl down while the others were removing her clothing. The girl was calling for help, he said.

The boys fled in different directions when the car lights were turned on. Mize gave chase and caught one of the boys, while Crook, coming from the other direction, captured another of the youths.

One boy was 15, the other 13. Mize said he fired several warning shots while chasing the boy he captured.

All of the boys were booked on juvenile charges and are to be questioned further, Venice officers said.

Two of the boys are from Venice, two from Eagle Park Acres and one from Madison.

financed by the city with motor fuel tax funds. Some financial officials point out that it is unlikely the city has sufficient motor fuel tax funds to finance the project. Council members have called for a detailed report on motor fuel tax funds available.

The city, however, presently owes about $167,000 to the state for work on the Nankin Road improvement. If the state were to press for payment of this amount, the city's motor fuel tax fund would be dealt a staggering blow, leaving it little hope of financing any street improvements regardless of their importance.

Further expansion of the Great River road toward Venice, where it will connect with the Broadway underpass now under construction at Main street, will be a major project of the federal freeze which has tied up allocation of any federal highway money in Madison and St. Clair counties.

A series of meetings has been under way in recent months in an effort to resolve the issues. Krone has said that he expects the freeze to be lifted before work could be started on the next phase of construction on Route 151.

$30 Millions Lost

The freeze on federal funds for the two counties has been on charges of discrimination by contractors in hiring Negroes on construction jobs and what federal highway officials termed excessive construction costs in this area. Madison and St. Clair counties lost $30 millions in highway construction work last year because of the federal order.

Next phase of the Route 151 project will include paving construction from Niedringhaus avenue in Granite City to Venice, but actual construction is not expected to be scheduled until 1971. Krone said that purchase of right-of-way for the Granite City-Venice section is continuing and is nearing completion. The Illinois highway divisions 1969 work schedule provided for no construction on the project this year.

In the event that the freeze order is dissolved this year, it is likely that grading work, which usually precedes construction as a separate project, will be scheduled for this year by department work program during 1970.

eral fund expenditures. Brynes said the transfer will provide sufficient money for operational costs until tax money becomes available next July.

Brynes reported that the city spent a total of $507,093 during the 1968-69 fiscal year which ended April 30. These expenditures left a balance of $48,266 in the total appropriation figures.

Although 13 separate accounts showed minor deficits at the end of the year, balances in the other accounts were more than sufficient to offset them and still leave the $48,266 balance. The council approved a resolution permitting transfer of funds to pay the deficit amounts.

List Top Expenditures

Expenditures in the city's major departments, Brynes reported, included $119,998 for operation of the police department, $56,771 for operation of the street department, $79,073 for the fire department, $40,577 for garbage collection and $39,854 for salaries for city officials.

An ordinance calling for erection of stop signs on one corner of two intersections also was adopted by the council. The bill calls for a stop sign to be installed on the west side of Salver street on the southwestern corner of its intersection with College street to regulate the flow of traffic moving in a southerly direction on Salver street.

The other stop was created on the north side of Allen street on the northeastern corner of its intersection with Mercedia street to regulate traffic moving in a westerly direction on Allen street.

The ordinance specifically sets out that vehicles approaching these stops must come to a "complete" stop and provides a fine up to $500 for violators.

Speeding Charge

Two motorists were issued tickets on speeding charges Saturday afternoon. They were Charles Barkley of Peoria in the 2600 block of Madison avenue, and Edwin Meyers, 2114 Delmar avenue, at 20th street and Lee avenue.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Sherin D. Heiman, 1412 Oakland avenue, and Mrs. Gloria G. Johnson, 305 West Chalk of Rocks road.

The Rev. Claire Clark performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar decorated with arrangements of white flowers and greenery.

Mrs. Wanda Harris presided at the organ and Mrs. Louise Potillo was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a trained gown of Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and long sleeves. Instead of the traditional bouquet she carried a white orchid on a Bible.

The attendants, Miss Charlotte Heiman, a sister of the bride, maid of honor, Miss Brenda Bennett and Miss Stephanie Johnson, the bridegroom's sister, bridesmaids, were dressed alike in daisy yellow floor-length gowns and carried yellow flowers.

Jay Lynn Rainwater, a niece of the bridegroom, and Matthew Heiman, the bride's nephew, served as flower girl and ring bearer. The former, dressed like the bridesmaids, carried a basket of rose petals.

Darrel G. Heiman, brother of the bride, was best man. Larry Rainwater, and Arthur Johnson were groomsmen and Kevin Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Bywater seated the guests.

A reception was held directly after the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The newlyweds will make their home in Chester, Ill.

Both young couples are graduates of Granite City high school, and the bride plans to attend a school of beauty culture.

Mr. Johnson is manager of the Liberty Loan Association.

MRS. JIM GRAY, the former Nancy Scaturro, who was married Saturday at St. Mark's Catholic Church in Venice.

Gray-Scaturro Nuptials Saturday at St. Mark's

St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church in Venice was the scene of the wedding Saturday morning of Miss Nancy Scaturro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Scaturro, 1227 Robin street, Venice, and Jim Gray, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gray, 122 Granville street, Venice.

White flowers on the altar and hurricane standards entwined with smilax and white satin ribbon in the aisle provided the setting for the 10 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Terry Shea. Donnie Scaturro and Danny Fecite, nephews of the bride, Mark Cicio, the bride's cousin, and Bob Dixon were servers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over peau de soie. The bodice had a scalloped neckline and long sleeves which tapered at the wrists. The double skirt of lace was accented with sequins and crystals to match the bodice and a lace train was also trimmed with sequins and crystals.

A double layer of illusion and a crown of sequins and rhinestones held in place a shoulder-length veil. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of miniature white carnations centered with a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. George McGarran presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Valerie Stephens, as she sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "On This Day."

Mrs. Dee Fecite, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Misses Elaine Bellue and Kathy Scaturro, nieces of the bride, and Mary Donna Scaturro, a cousin, Meridel Buscher, and Marilyn Wolfe were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns in pastel shades. They were classic in styling with molded bodices accented with small bands of lilies of the valley, rounded necklines and short sleeves. The skirts ended in short trains. Beaded tiaras held in place matching bouffant veils and all carried French colonial bouquets of pom poms tinted to match their gowns.

Denise Wein, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed like the older girls and carried a basket of pink and white pom poms and rose petals. Tina Scaturro, another niece, was a miniature bride, and her dress was a copy of the bride's gown. Her flowers were a nosegay of white flowers. Timmy Scaturro, nephew of the bride, was a small bridegroom.

Mr. Gray's attendants were Donald Davinroy, best man, and Edward Gray, the bridegroom's brother, Robert Fecite, Leo Scaturro, nephew of the bride, Jim Edmond, Jerry Cicio, cousins of the bride, Louis Scaturro, a brother of the bride, and Larry Gray, the bridegroom's brother, groomsmen and ushers. Scaturro is employed at the Granite City Army Depot. Mr.

Mercer, Credit Union Drop Second Inter-City Battles

Mercer and Credit Union lost their second games of the season in the Southwestern Illinois Inter-City Baseball League Sunday.

The Mercer team, as the result of six errors, was edged at Pocatonia by a 5-4 score, while Credit Union was downed by Maryville 13-4 in a game played at Wilson Park. In the other league game, East Alton blanked Mollitor Motors 1-0 at Collinsville.

A rally by the Mercer team produced three runs but fell short of catching the Pocatonia Braves. Following walks to Steve and Rich Schardan, Bob Kepner doubled and Larry Corey singled.

Mercer took a 1-0 lead in the third inning as Ketrer was hit by a pitch, advanced on a sacrifice by Dave Sparks and came around on a single by Larry Corey.

But Pocatonia tied the game in the fourth frame and iced it with two runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

Mercer hurler John Corrie was effective in giving up seven hits while fanning two and walking two, but Mercer's committed six errors. Ketrer and Larry Corey each collected two of Mercer's six hits off winning pitcher Mike Weber.

Credit Union opened the scoring in the second frame on a base hit by Larry Dillard who took third on a sacrifice by Charlie Stephens. Dillard scored on a sacrifice by Steve Lengyel, and Stevens scored on a bases-loaded walk.

Maryville came back in the third with three runs on two walks and three safeties. The winners scored three more runs in the fourth on an error, a two-run homer by Bill Stiles, and a walk followed by two more safeties.

The win was insured in the sixth when Maryville put across six runs on three hits. Leading Maryville at the plate were Ray Perry with two hits and four runs batted in, Roy Kibick and Ken Cook, each with four hits.

Winning pitcher Bill Stiles fanned three, walked seven, and although trailing 2-0 early in the game, was never in serious trouble after the third inning.

Steve Lengyel starting pitcher for Credit Union, left the game in the third inning with an arm injury. The losers complained of errors behind their relief pitching.

Charles Stephens tripled and Larry Dillard homered in the losing Credit Union cause. The league will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 16 at the Maryville civic center. League officials announced that Credit Union signed Gary Whitehead, Roger Laws and Steve Conway and released William Hankins and William Grable Jr.

Mayor Lee Outlines 3-Point Program for City of Venice

Mayor John E. Lee of Venice addressed the newly-organized Venice city council Friday night with an announcement of a three-point program during the next two years, and said its fulfillment would mean "major advancement in the progress of our community."

Addressing the council after oaths of office had been administered to officials elected to new terms in the April 15 election, Mayor Lee listed these objectives as the target of special efforts during the next several years:

1. Establishment of the proposed Neighborhood Development program in which the city plans to replace much of its substandard housing with newly built homes, a program which the mayor said "probably will mean more to the city of Venice than any other factor in the last 40 to 50 years."

2. Creation of facilities and programs to entertain and instruct Venice youth so that the energies and abilities of the city's boys and girls "can be put to good use."

3. Completion of the Broadway underpass project which, Mayor Lee noted, appears to be running behind schedule.

A Proud Record

"If we can bring these projects to reality in the next couple of years," Mayor Lee told the council, "along with other progress developed in the normal routine of operating the city, then we will have a record of which we well can be proud."

He cited the proposed Neighborhood Development program as "probably the best thing that ever has been proposed for the city of Venice."

The program, now in its inital planning stage, will be undertaken under the federal housing program which permits municipalities to buy deteriorated properties, raze the old structures and build new homes which are then sold under long term financing. A contract with a St. Louis planning firm has been approved by both Venice and Madison for preparation of applications for federal aid. The two cities will promote the program jointly.

The mayor told the council that there long has been a need for youth facilities in Venice, and said the need was emphasized by the recent Student Government Day in Venice. The mayor said he was particularly impressed by the "sensible and intelligent questions" asked by the group of youngsters chosen to take over city offices for a day.

Underpass Behind Schedule
As for the underpass project, the Mayor pointed out that while work has begun on the long-delayed construction, "it appears that work is running behind schedule." Mayor Lee asked Edward Juncos, Venice consulting engineer, to contact state highway officials and obtain a report on the status of the project.

The council was reorganized prior to opening of the regular Venice council meeting Friday night when Mayor Lee administered the oath of office to City Clerk William "Mike" Ebersold, who was re-elected to his sixth consecutive term in the recent municipal elections. Ebersold, then administered oath of office to Mayor Lee, and to Aldermen Harry Buente, Hank Svezia, John Ervin and Henry Baucum. Baucum is a new member of the council. The others were re-elected to new terms.

The motorist, Grace J. Barr, 1540 Third street, said she was driving west when the boy and a dog ran in front of her car. The boy, son of Tunnie Perkins, 1512a Third street, was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Lorenzo Savage, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Savage of East St. Louis, was reported in satisfactory condition today at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted shortly after 8 p.m. yesterday.

According to Madison police, the boy was struck by an auto which was being backed out of a drive at 100 Allen street, Eagle Park Acres, by Louie Jefferson, 20, of Columbia, Miss. The boy was treated for head injuries and x-rays were taken.

3 Hurt in Madison
Three persons were injured at 8 p.m. Friday in an accident at Sixth street and Madison avenue, Madison, involving two autos and a tractor-trailer truck.

Police said John H. Gregory Jr., Waukegan, Ill., driver of the tractor-trailer, headed south on Madison avenue, attempted to stop his truck for a signal change but was unable to bring it to a halt before a car driven by Dan Svezia, 18, of 1004 Madison avenue, pulled into the intersection.

The truck struck Svezia's car, knocking it into a car driven east on Sixth street by Herman Odell, 53, of 100 State street, Madison police said.

Odell and Svezia and Beverly Nemeth, 15, of 1886 Sixth street, Madison, a passenger in Svezia's car, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. All were treated and released.

State police said the accident occurred when a heavy load on the truck shifted and caused the truck to overturn. Taylor was treated for abrasions, contusions and multiple back injuries. O'Brien was treated for a left knee injury and chest abrasions.

Motorcyclist Hurt
A St. Louis motorcyclist was injured about 10:30 a.m. Saturday on McKinley bridge where his eastbound cycle struck the superstructure. Wayne Jerome Morris, 25, was taken by ambulance to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, with abrasions and bruises to his left ankle.

Venice Rail Crossing Blocked Two Hours

A Penn-Central freight train blocked the Bissell street crossing in Venice for two hours yesterday morning after members of the train crew completed a maximum work period and left the train standing, Venice police reported.

Officers said the train came to a standstill at the crossing at 6:15 a.m. and did not get under way until 8:16 a.m. when a new train crew arrived. Railroad officials told Venice authorities that the crew left the train after it had completed a 16-hour work period. Under an Interstate Commerce Commission order, train crewmen are not permitted to work beyond that period, police were told.

Police said they also were told that the train could have been stopped at the Lenox Tower in Mitchell because the departing train crew's shift did not end until 7 a.m. Railroad officials said crewmen are required to notify the railroad an hour ahead of the expiration of a 16-hour work shift, but that no such notice had been received.

Channeling Our Material Resources For Expansion of Human Happiness

"Senator Robert F. Wagner and the Rise of Urban Liberalism" by J. Joseph Huthmacher. New York, Atheneum, 362 pages, $10.

Reviewed by Irving Dillard, a member of the faculty at Princeton University. (Review published in the Daily Egyptian, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.)

The late New York Senator Robert F. Wagner — for the younger generation it may be helpful to identify him as the father of the recent mayor of New York City — once asked this question:

"Of what use are material resources and scientific resourcefulness, all our equipment, our enterprise, and our efficiency if the sum total of human happiness enjoyed by our people — all our people — is not increased thereby?"

Then the lawmaker who came as an immigrant from Germany answered his question and stated his credo in the process:

"I firmly believe that all human welfare and happiness will play a far greater role in the world of the future than any mere economic production or military alignment. A steadily increasing measure of security, a steadily rising standard of living, a steadily lengthening period of leisure will spend, a never ending increase in the value and nobility of life... we can do no better than to devote ourselves until we stink to make that the history of our country."

When Bob Wagner died in 1953, his full goals of course were still to be realized but the United States was much further along the way because of his devoted service to the Senate during the two decades from 1927 to 1947.

He was, as he has been so aptly called, "The Legislative Pilot of the New Deal." On him more than on anyone else in Congress did F.D.R. rely.

This detailed, full, balanced biography by Dr. Huthmacher, professor of history and director of graduate programs in history at Rutgers University, is worthy of its subject.

It is readable, accurate, scholarly and, although wholly sympathetic, also largely detached.

More could have been said about the Tammany relationships of these years, but a few such points aside, here is a life of an important modern legislator just about the way it fits within the history of the subject matter.

The relevancy of the subject matter is so close to today that it needs to be no more than pointed out.

Wife Cannot Be Disinherited Unless She Gives Her Consent

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

Can a man disinherit his wife under Illinois law? Why not? It is the property of the person who dies without a will. Does a will have to be witnessed?

Those questions and many others are answered in a newly-revised pamphlet entitled "Wills—Their Importance and Why You Should Have One," published by the Illinois State Bar Association.

The pamphlet is available without charge upon request to the Illinois State Bar Center, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

According to the pamphlet, a person may leave his property to anyone he wishes in a will, except that one spouse may not disinherit the other spouse without the consent of the one who is disinherited.

The pamphlet states: "A surviving spouse, whether or not named in a will, always claims at least one-third of the deceased spouse's estate. If the deceased had no child or grandchild, the surviving spouse is legally entitled to at least one-half of the estate."

"A spouse may renounce the right that does not provide for his or her legal share."

"If a person dies intestate, that is, without having made a will, his property is distributed by a court according to state law, the pamphlet points out."

In the case of a married person, one-third of the estate goes to his spouse and two-thirds is divided among the deceased's children or their descendants.

The maker of the will must be at least 18 years old and of sound mind and memory.

The pamphlet warns against "death bed" wills which, it states, often fail to carry out accurately the wishes of the maker or are found to be invalid for some technical reason that otherwise would have been avoided.

It concludes: "Common sense says that a will should be prepared while a person is in good health and in a position to consider the consequences of his actions."

The ISBA also announced the availability of recently revised pamphlets on other legal subjects, including one entitled "Joint Tenancy," a popular Form of Joint Ownership. That pamphlet explains the legal effect of owning property jointly with right of survivorship.

The radically new technique side-steps spinning and weaving, the most expensive part of present cloth-making operations, begins with the introduction of the new material made by a process called the monomer-to-fiber process.

The new technology carries economic advantages that could shift the fortunes of a number of many companies. This year manufacturers of man-made fibers will sell $3.5 billion worth of threads and fibers to textile mills which, in turn, will sell $2.5 billion worth of cloth products to the public.

Attempts to get around the textile mills' weaving operations began in the early 1960s, when a group of men in the textile industry began to develop a new material made by a process called the monomer-to-fiber process.

Precise Population Balance Required In Illinois Congressional Redistricting

With Republicans holding both U. S. Senate seats in Illinois, plus the governor office and control of both sides of the legislature, it is not surprising that the party is moving to seek a Congressional majority as well, and even better for the 1970 census requires new district boundaries for the 1972 balloting. At present, the 24 Congressional posts are evenly divided between Democrats and the GOP.

Any doubt that there would be reapportionment in 1969 was removed when the U.S. Supreme Court said April 7 that Missouri and New York redistricting plans were unconstitutional. Districts ought to have precisely equal population, the justices ruled, and Illinois legislative leaders nodded in quick agreement. A total of 25 states may be affected next year.

The present differential between the two most extreme districts in this state is 13.1%, far more than what the court said was excessive in Missouri, 5.96%.

An Illinois plan aimed at three turnovers and a 15-9 Republican edge seems unlikely to win court sanction. Approved 13-7 by the Senate Executive Committee, it involves a 4.4% range, probably too big. The House of Representatives, however, has a more moderate interpretation of what the "one man, one vote" goal means.

Targets are Rep. Shipley of Olney, who would lose Macoupin county and gain part of the GOP domain of Rep. Springer of Champaign; and Rep. Murphy and Rep. Pucinski of Chicago, both of whom would see suburban areas attached to their districts.

The 23rd (Rep. Shipley) would retain the northern third of Madison county but would lose part of its area in this county to Rep. Price's 24th district, which includes the Quad-Cities and St. Clair county.

There may be enough voters at Springfield to proceed, but legislative leaders would be wise to draw up more evenly balanced districts if they hope to see their proposal actually go into effect.

More Authority for Local Government Building Commissions An Unsound Idea

State legislators are right in avoiding hasty action on House Bills 407 and 985, which would transfer authority of local governmental building commissions to permit library and airport buildings to be constructed.

We don't have anything against libraries or airports, but we do question the advisability of such building commissions, which spend property taxes without referendum authority.

It will be recalled that the Illinois Building Commission Act was adopted in 1955 to expedite construction of city halls and county courthouses where needed. The county or city enters into a rental agreement with a locally-established building commission, which erects the facility and leases it to the city or county.

The municipality or county levies a separate and additional property tax each year to meet the commitment on the lease agreement. Taxpayers have no voice on this special tax, other than the fact that they elect the officials empowered to make such decisions.

The building commission principle, never sound, unfortunately has grown markedly since then. In the 1969 General Assembly session, the two bills referred to would further expand such authority. Fortunately, the House Municipalities Committee seems to be less than enthusiastic about them.

MORE ON THE FAT SOLUBLE VITAMINS

Last week we were talking about vitamins A and D and how they are produced by the action of ultraviolet light on cholesterol in your skin. This is one of the functions of cholesterol, incidentally, that indicates the importance of cholesterol, its essentiality, if you will, in spite of the fears some people have of this sterol because it may in some way be related to heart disease.

Well, the main point everyone ought to remember is that causes of heart disease and its treatment are far from solved. Meantime, there is a history, long-standing, of the merits of the American diet for producing a healthy, vigorous population, and I for one think people should not be stampeded into fearing this or that food or food component on the basis of research findings that quite often have little relationship to the way people really eat, anyway.

Helps You Absorb Calcium
But enough of that, and back to vitamin D. You need it because it helps you absorb calcium and to build calcium and phosphorus into your bones, making them strong. Your teeth, of course, are also involved.

Very few foods contain significant amounts of vitamin D, although fish liver oils do. Also, as stated, we have no way of measuring the amount of vitamin in the body by the amount of sunlight. It varies, after all, with the climate you live in, and how much of the sun's rays you absorb. This is the reason milk is fortified with vitamin D, so that you get this essential vitamin along with the calcium in milk that you need to absorb.

But now let's talk about vitamins E and K.

Widely Available
We make vitamin K through bacterial synthesis in the intestines of our own bodies. Vitamin K also is so widely distributed in a wide variety of foods that it's not really a vitamin. It's administered to patients for specific reasons. But a normal, healthy individual is not likely to need such administration.

Founders of This City Discovered Granite Ware Process in Europe

(Granite City Long-Range Plan)

The Ohio & Mississippi Railroad, the first to connect St. Louis with the east, was begun in Illinois (East St. Louis) in 1852.

This line bypassed Belleville, county seat of St. Clair county, and went to St. Louis.

Colonel D. Morrison of Belleville promptly obtained a charter authorizing him to build the Belleville & Illinois River Railroad and extensions to connect it with any railroad in the state which was already in existence or which was to be built in the future.

With these liberal provisions in hand, Col. Morrison began his railroad in 1856, building it north from Illinois through Six Mile Prairie.

The railroad station on the site of Granite City was named Kinder Station after one of the settlers, Calvin Kinder.

German immigrants poured into the area during the 1850s and 1860s, replacing many original settlers who were happy to sell out after years of hard work and fevers. The area continued to be Germanized in succeeding years.

Two of the immigrants to settle in St. Louis were Frederick and Marie Niedringhaus from Westphalia.

Two of their sons, William and Frederick G. Niedringhaus, became apprentice tinners with a St. Louis firm. The brothers saved enough money by 1867 to start their own business.

During these years, tinware was cut by hand and soldered together. But manufacturers in France developed a machine which would stamp out pots and pans from a single sheet of tin plate.

Pfc Douglass Awarded Commendation Medal

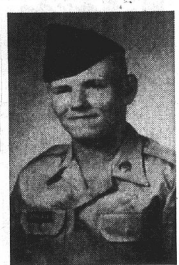

Pfc. Robert C. Douglass, 29, informed his parents by letter last week that he has been awarded the Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device for Valor for action taking place recently near Saigon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Douglass, 3712 Pontoon road.

The soldier, who is a member of Co A, 2nd Battalion (Mech), 2nd Infantry, 1st Infantry Division, said the action in which he won the medal occurred while his outfit was in ambush patrol.

"We killed four NVA's (North Vietnamese Army) and captured four AK-47s, including a high-ranking Viet Cong officer who gave our people lots of information when questioned," the serviceman told his parents. Further details of the incident were not given.

Pfc. Douglass arrived in Vietnam last December. He recently agreed to extend his overseas duty time by several months, remaining in Vietnam until his total service obligation is completed, his parents said.

He is a 1967 graduate of Venice high school and was employed as secretary of the

Cerebral Palsy Drive, Census Set May 23-26

The Madison Chapter and St. Clair Chapter of United Cerebral Palsy will launch the annual fund campaign and census in a program to fight the nation's number onecrippler of children. The drive will be May 23 through May 26, according to Mrs. Janette Garrison, general chairman.

Mrs. Garrison said the agency is seeking a record number of volunteer workers in order to reach more people in the community with the UCP appeal. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Sadie McCall, campaign supervisor, at 326 West Main street, Collinsville.

"Cerebral Palsied Children are the victims of brain damage usually happening at birth, and they need intensive care and treatment over many years to overcome the multi-crippling effects of this disorder," Mrs. Garrison reported. The organization takes pride that through its skilled services many who appeared hopeless have made remarkable progress.

Revisions in Summer School Programs in GC

James Dumont, principal of Coolidge junior high school and general chairman of the Granite City annual summer school program for elementary and junior high school pupils, is announcing several changes in the program.

In the junior high school program three subjects will be eliminated. They are recreational sports or recreational activities and physical fitness.

Locations of the centers are as follows: Emerson school, to be attended by pupils of Niedringhaus, McKinley and Emerson schools; Marshall school will be attended by students from Wilson, Webster and Marshall schools; Frohardt school attended by pupils of Parkview and Frohardt; Mitchell school for pupils of Mayfield school.

Nameoki school for Nameoki pupils; Maryville school for Maryville pupils; Washington school for pupils of Logan and Washington; Lake school for students of Stallings and Lake school.

Attendance hours for the elementary grades will be from 9 a.m. until noon daily, while the junior high school classes will be from 8 a.m. until noon daily. There is no tuition fee but elementary pupils will pay a $2.50 fee for supplies and materials and junior high pupils will pay a $3 fee for the same purpose. Transportation will not be furnished and will be the responsibility of the parents.

Although the applications stated the deadline for registration would be May 5, pupils will still be accepted until the opening day of school, Dumont said.

Optimists Hear Talk on Law Day

Emphasizing the significance of "Law Day—USA," observed annually on May 1, Attorney Leo Konzen reviewed the rights, privileges and obligations of the American citizen—"evident and necessary because we are ruled by law," in a talk Thursday afternoon before members of the Granite City Optimist Club.

Konzen, a member of the local men's service group, spoke extemporaneously following his introduction by Herman Muelder, program chairman. The latter, also in an impromptu style program, read highlights from recently published newspaper articles concerning campus disorders, and comments by members resulted in a lively discussion.

The group shared dialogue on two opposing points of view, with neither side agreeing with current actions of militant students, confining the discussion to pressures by student groups in general.

One Optimist member reported that many changes now being demanded by students have been advocated by university faculty members in past years, but were difficult to achieve in advance of the present positions taken by college students.

Expressing another viewpoint, a member stated that the disorders were creating difficulties for college administrators and those students attending school to get a good education. Their point appears to be a form of powerplay, where demand for revisions is immediate rather than going through regular processes and channels using more gradual methods in effecting legitimate change, the speaker pointed out.

Fred Cunningham, Optimist president, conducted the business session, attended by 32 members. A report of the nominating committee was read by Dr. Raymond Troyer, chairman, who announced the annual election will take place Thursday, with additional nominations permitted from the floor preceding a vote.

Those nominated to serve as Granite City Optimist officials in 1969-70 are:

President—John L. McDonald; vice-presidents—Ted El-

Brother of GC Man Drowns, at Coffein

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon, in Gillespie, for Jerry L. Allen, 28, of Staunton, a brother of Clyde Allen of Granite City, who drowned Tuesday night in Coffein Lake.

He had gone there on a fishing trip with a group of friends Tuesday night. He was reported missing on Wednesday when his companions found his boat overturned. The body was recovered on Wednesday.

Born in Carlinville, he had lived in Staunton the past year. He is survived by his wife, Barbara; three sons, Joseph, John, and Jeffrey all at home; seven brothers, two sisters and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Allen of Gillespie.

Allen was employed as a construction ironworker.

Arrested for Speeding

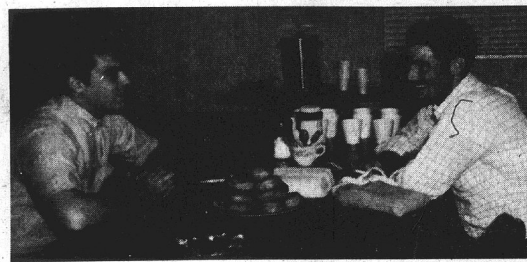

Robert P. Maddox, 19, of 216 Hampton street, Venice, was arrested by Venice police at 9 p.m. Thursday at Fourth street and Broadway and charged with speeding.

man and Robert E. Geller; secretary—Edward L. Stone; treasurer—Rev. James R. Craddock; sergeant-at-arms—Dr. Scott Hendrickson; board of directors (three-year terms)—Donald Z. Farrington, Robert Brave and Howard Colquitt; and director (two-year term), replacing the late Vernon Sharp—Henry R. Gabriel.

Comprising the nominating committee with Dr. Troyer were Stone, Brave, Farrington and David John, all past presidents of the club.

Cunningham appointed McDonald to serve as interim secretary until new officers are installed in late summer. He will replace John D. Solenberger, current secretary and United Fund executive director, who will leave the city late this month to assume a new post at Quincy.

Reservations still can be made to attend the Optimist's District convention May 16-18 at the Holiday Inn, Pekin. Cunningham reminded the group. During the three-day conference, Steve Stagner, winner of the Granite City and Optimist Zone oratorical contests, will compete for divisional honors and an opportunity to enter the national finals in Miami, Fla., the president said.

Armed Forces Day Open House at Depot May 17

An open house at the Granite City Army Depot, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday, May 17, and an exhibition of the latest Army equipment in an area near the main fire station on Madison avenue, will mark the observation of Armed Forces Day in the Quad-Cities, it was announced this week.

The 1969 theme—"Forces For Freedom"—will be carried throughout displays, demonstrations and other events arranged for visitors to the local military installation on Armed Forces Day.

A Depot spokesman said that rides aboard the GCAD fire engine and on military jeeps will be available, and the public is invited to tour the Depot perimeter on board a special train. Bus tours also will be conducted, permitting passengers to alight and inspect warehouses, maintenance buildings, barracks area, mess halls, day room, and orderly rooms.

Stationary displays will feature the latest telephone communications, utilizing LASER beam equipment, and detailed operation of a field mess tent. Also to be demonstrated is a rough terrain forklift bridge launcher, the spokesman said.

Refreshments will be available for visitors and information and first aid booths are to be located in prominent places on the Depot grounds.

3 Quad-Cityans Drafted Friday

Three Quad-Cityans reported Friday morning to the county selective service office in Edwardsville for armed forces induction.

They were Robert Eckert and Richard Matz of Granite City and William Freeze of Madison. A group of 68 local youths is to report on May 28 for pre-induction physical examinations.

With the May quota of three Quad-Cityans, 76 local youths have been drafted so far this year, compared to 102 at this time in 1968.

The quota for June has not yet been announced.

Price Urges Lowering EDA Aid Requirement

Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has called for a revision of Economic Development administration eligibility standards as "an effective means of attacking the hardcore unemployment problem."

In a statement before the House Public Works committee supporting his proposal to lower EDA population requirements, Price said the standards should be redefined in order to "hit poverty pockets in smaller communities" which presently are ineligible for assistance. Under present regulations, any area must have 250,000 to be eligible for EDA programs.

He said the present plight of East St. Louis is a "compelling reason to make the change." The congressman pointed out that the city now is eligible to receive EDA aid because the county falls under the present population requirement. But any reduction in the county's unemployment rate would "knock East St. Louis out of the box," despite its alarming unemployment rate.

Price's bill would lower the population requirement to 50,000.
